

Here is the graph representing the cost of repairs versus the cost of replacement using the 50% rule. The blue line shows the 50% threshold, meaning if repair costs exceed this line (half of the replacement cost), replacement is advised. The red dashed line represents the point where repair costs equal replacement costs